Why we dealers unite in urging you to use Gargoyle Mobiloils in the engine of your Automobile—your Truck—your Tractor

WHY WE DEALERS UNITE in urging you to use Gargoyle Mobiloils in your Automobile engine

Possibly you think we make more profit on Gargoyle Mobiloils than do we on other oils. We do not. As a matter of fact, we could make more profit per gallon on some oils that sell for far less. Yet we advise you in all seriousness to buy our Gargoyle Mobiloils—securing the grade specified for your car in the Vacuum Oil Company's Chart of Automobile Recommendations. Why?

Specialized Lubrication

In selling you the grade of Gargoyle Mobiloils recommended for your automobile, motor truck or tractor

- we supply you with oil produced by the recognized world leaders in scientific lubrication.
- we provide you with oil of the very highest quality.
- we give you oil which is scientifically correct in BODY for YOUR car.
- we protect you against excessive repair bills and excessive carbon deposit.
- we assure you low gasoline and oil consumption.

These promises are neither claims nor matters of theory. They are plain facts. We are in the automobile business. All our experience lies with automobiles and automobile operation. We have had ample opportunity to compare the results of different brands of oil IN USE.

Based upon our experience, we believe in the outstanding superiority of Gargoyle Mobiloils. We have seen what scientific lubrication means to engines—how inferior bills cause at least 50% of all engine wear and engine operating troubles.

That 60% of all engine troubles are avoidable, is a fact which the correct grade of Gargoyle Mobiloils will amply prove to you.

Present prices of Gargoyle Mobiloils are substantially lower than the prices of last year. The economy of Gargoyle Mobiloils, however, is not a matter of price per gallon.

It is a matter of superior protection and superior engine efficiency. Gargoyle Mobiloils are not the lowest-priced per gallon. But we are convinced that they are the most economical oils BY THE YEAR.

It is our experience that when once a motorist begins the steady use of the correct grade of Gargoyle Mobiloils he will go out of his way to get them, rather than accept a substitute.

We, too, drive cars. As drivers we use Gargoyle Mobiloils. So we are not merely recommending these oils as dealers, but our advice to use them is based upon our own experience as operators of cars and trucks.

We recommend to you the specialized products of the most experienced producers of lubricating oils.

Can you make any mistake in accepting such advice?

The Chart Tells Your Grade

Gargoyle Mobiloils are produced in several grades—Gargoyle Mobiloil "A", Gargoyle Mobiloil "B", Gargoyle Mobiloil "E", Gargoyle Mobiloil "Arctic." One of these grades is scientifically correct in body and character for your engine. The Chart tells which grade to use. This Chart is reprinted here in part.

If your car is not listed here, we invite you to call and use our copy of the complete Chart of Recommendations. It specifies the correct grade of Gargoyle Mobiloils for every make and model of car, truck, motorcycle and tractor manufactured during the past five years.

Let us show you how efficiently your engine can run when lubricated with the correct grade of Gargoyle Mobiloils. We have these oils in one-gallon and five-gallon sealed cans, and in 15, 30 and 55-gallon steel drums, suitable for the home garage. We advise you to buy in the larger containers. The prices per gallon are cheaper in 5-gallon cans than in 1-gallon cans, due to a lower proportionate cost of packing.

The 15, 30 and 55-gallon steel drums still further reduce the cost per gallon and provide you with a season's supply. In this way you get bottom prices and save frequent stops for oil.

See us as soon as you can about Gargoyle Mobiloils.

Chart of Recommendations (Abbreviated Edition)

How to Read the Chart:

The correct grades of Gargoyle Mobiloils for engine lubrication of both passenger and commercial cars are specified in the Chart below.

A means Gargoyle Mobiloil "A".
B means Gargoyle Mobiloil "B".
E means Gargoyle Mobiloil "E".
Ar means Gargoyle Mobiloil Arctic.

Where different grades are recommended for summer and winter use, the winter recommendations should be followed during the entire period when freezing temperatures may be experienced. The recommendations for prominent makes of engines used in many cars are listed separately for convenience.

The Chart of Recommendations is compiled by the Vacuum Oil Co.'s Board of Automotive Engineers, and represents our professional advice on correct automobile lubrication.

HE THAT DOTH TRUTH

But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God.—St. John 3: 21.

Jazz and Longevity

JAZZ life seems to agree with Americans. We not only live faster than our great-grandparents but, on the average, we also live eight years longer. So says the Census Bureau.Queer facts are being brought to life as the 1920 census is analyzed. Most unique is the discovery that the United States has more than 3,500 men and women who are more than 100 years old. Perhaps some day the centenarian will be the rule, not the exception. Doubtless this will come as a result of health education, rather than from eating monkey glands. The forms of animal life that live longest are elephants, whales, tortoises, alligators and parrots.
These frequently pass 150 years. Note, that they all live languidly, move slowly, rarely hurry. Is that the secret of advanced age? Possibly, though the lives of those who drop off before the 100 mark seem to be prolonged in this age of jazz.A popular song had this refrain: "He may be old, but he's got young ideas." That appealed to popular fancy because it caught the subconscious mind. The census now reports that marriages of persons beyond fifty years of age are steadily increasing in numbers, already being frequent; that out of 100 American men and women, eighty are married before they reach forty-five, while ten take the leap afterward and ten remain single. Divorces among those who have passed forty-five are also becoming more common. This, however, is not making us a cynical people, for the census finds that the majority of divorced people try marriage at least a second time, many making three or four ventures.Figures—which "never lie," though "liars often figure"—show that the span of life is lengthening during the Jazz Age. It will take several centuries to learn whether or not this is a permanent phenomenon. Possibly it is only a temporary tendency. Very often what people do in their lifetime does not take its toll for several generations. Possibly we are being carried forward by momentum acquired from healthful lives and habits of our ancestors. They gave us the physique and stamina to withstand the metropolitan congestion and nerve-racking existence of modern times. Anyway the real effects of the Jazz Age will not show up until our descendants of 100 years or more hence have come and gone.

Complications and Needs

THE threatened fall of the German cabinet, and the almost equally perilous position of the French ministry, is of considerable importance to the people of these nations. But perhaps it is even more important to the world at large.
The outcome may change the personnel of the French delegation to the disarmament conference. Interpellations in the French chamber may have the effect of "sewing up" the French delegation to the conference with the thongs of militarist people so enmeshed in French danger and defense as to have no sense of world currents all about them. In Germany such progress as has been made toward restoration of industry and renewed articulation with the rest of the world may be set back or lost. All these complications increase the necessity for a strong progressive policy in America led by men of vision to whom tradition and precedent are not impassable barriers.

Enforced Repentance

THERE is something rather humorous about the announcement that Babe Ruth has "abandoned his barnstorming trip and expressed regret at having violated the rules of organized baseball." The humor lies in the last paragraph, in which it is stated that "Ruth's barnstorming trip was reported to have been a financial disappointment." One wonders if the Babe would have been repentant if the gate receipts had been larger. At that, the rule that Ruth violated looks like a fool rule. It is hard to see what harm is done to organized ball by the participation ofworld series players in post-season exhibition games. But while the rule exists, Ruth had no business to violate it and Judge Landis can hardly do anything else but enforce it. Repentance enforced by failure of the transgression to "pan out" will scarcely be held a mitigation of Ruth's defiance.

Temporary

DECISION of the shop crafts, maintenance of way and stationary firemen's unions not to join the brotherhoods in a strike cases the situation considerably. It will doubtless cause the "Big Five" to take stock of their position more carefully, and lend its weight to their consideration of proposals made by the railroad labor board or other public agencies for averting the walkout. The nation breathed a bit easier on Sunday at the information that more than half of the railway labor would stay out of the strike.
But it should be recognized that the standard unions' decision against a strike applies for the present only. It was shaped merely to fit the immediate posture of events, and comes with the express reservation noted in B. M. Jewell's address of Saturday:"The shop crafts' rules under federal control were made into a national agreement which the labor board now is revising. Already they have issued twenty-four substitute rules and laid down part of the issue which we will have to meet. We have not yet committed ourselves on that subject. When all the revised rules have been promulgated by the board then we will again assemble the general chairman and seek a remedy to rights which have been taken from us."Unless a satisfactory adjustment can be reached in the meantime, it is apparent that the majority of the railway labor organizations will eventually demand a show-down, and probably in a way not greatly different from that now employed by the Big Five. In its efforts to avert the strike set for October 30, the government should not forget that it is but one phase, and perhaps not the worst, of an extremely threatening labor crisis.

Eggs

TWO hundreds eggs are consumed yearly, in the United States, for each man, woman and child. In England, the average consumption is only ninety-three eggs, says National Poultry Council, London. That is a pretty good ratio for comparing the standard of living in the two countries. We Americans are better off than any other people. We do not realize it until we compare our lot with other nations.Russian Rubles are quoted at a nickel a thousand if you do your own hauling.Russia started out to lick Capitalism but got no further than its boots.Too many people are trying to widen the crack in the Liberty Bell.It's easy to meet expenses; the trouble is dodging them.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAYLa Crosse has produced another aviation bug, J.
Dagnon, this city, today announced that he has signed a contract with the Chicago Aeroplane Exhibition Co., to take a course in their instructions after which he will make exhibition and cross country flights for the company.C. A. Olberg, 1615 Perry street, one of the largest real estate holders in this city and one time member of the La Crosse county board, died early this morning. Mr. Olberg was born in Christiania, Norway, in 1851. He came to La Crosse in 1876 and entered the employ of Thomas Servis as clothing cutter, which position he held for twenty-two years, when he entered the real estate business. In 1892 he purchased a tract of land in the southeastern part of the city and built up the little village which is known as Hungry Point.George H. Burton, president of the First National Bank, left La Crosse yesterday for Mankato, Minn., where he joined President Taft, who is in that city today. Mr. Burton and President Taft were classmates at Yale and graduated in the same class.TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAYThe firm of Swarthout and Brendal will erect a large plant on property which it has acquired on Berlin street for the distilling of oils. Dr. Swarthout has secured twenty acres of land near West Salem where he will cultivate wormwood. Sage, tansy and horse-mint will also be extracted from plants.Tracey Miller is putting a partition in his shooting gallery on Mill street and will put in a stock of wall paper on one side.Orrin Sorrensen has been given the contract to build an addition to the Listwan mill. It will be twenty feet square and will be used as a private office by George M. Heath, manager.Raymond Nichols of Oulaska and M. P. Sutherland of La Crosse have formed a partnership and will establish themselves in the mercantile business at Andington, Idaho. They opened their store October 25.
Mr. Sutherland has been a salesman for the last three years at the White House, this city.THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAYThe route of the new Kickapoo valley road has been changed to head for La Crosse instead of Wilton.
Prominent men here feel positive the line will run through La Crosse and thus give this city a boom. A real estate transfer here yesterday which involved the sale of property in the east end of the city to railroad men is believed to be in the interests of the new road.
La Crosse merchants are feeling very happy since the lumber mills re-opened for the season. They experience a severe loss in trade during the summer because men go elsewhere to work when the mills are closed.The ruins of Germania hall were visited by thousands on Sunday. The walls are gone down to the first story and the pile is an interesting sight. The Deutscher Verein which owned the building will get $9,000 of insurance money and will rebuild at once.Three men from the Captain Paist stock farm at Milwaukee are here to buy blooded horses.
John Kindley made a trip to Oulaska today on his new wheel.

Out of the Rut

By R. RAY BAKER

If a person can scowl at himself, Hawley Miller was doing just that, as his mad-boss, J. E. Landis, roared, honking, ranting and ranting about the ratty road.The scowl was occasioned by the fact that Hawley was the road commissioner, into whose care and keeping had been delivered this particular stretch of undesirable highway, and by the additional facts that he realized he must do something in the way of improvement and that he wondered how he was going to find the men to do it.A crew of highway workers was kept busy overtime patching various parts of the county's turnpike system and the funds allotted for the purpose would be totally inadequate to pay out additional wages. So Hawley scowled at himself.As he approached the Parker home, marking the beginning of Oak Dale, Hawley found his machine caught in a pair of deep ruts. He tried to steer the wheels out of the depressions, but the latter were too deep, so he sat back with a sigh and allowed the machine to find its own way. "This situation was responsible for the accident that occurred. There must have been a break in the ruts that held the wheels, for the car suddenly flopped out of the road and headed with a rush for a mammoth oak tree on the Parker lawn. Before Hawley could react the gas throttle the machine crashed into the tree, and the consequence buried the road commissioner to the ground.Somebody appeared at the front door of the residence, and Hawley's befuddled vision caught a flash of white.
"Are you hurt?" inquired a gentle voice, and such a gentle voice!He sat up, dazed, and found himself staring into the eyes of a bewitching miss. The expression of her exquisite face—that's the way Hawley described it—contained something of something of solicitude and something of mirth. Evidently she wanted to laugh, but was undecided about it."Are you hurt?" she repeated, while her red lips twitched.
Hawley crossed his head with a hand. The head had not come in contact with the ground, but somehow he wanted to be hurt."No, not much," he answered, rubbing his head again."You are, too; I just know you are," the vision in the face insisted. "Come on into the house and let me brew some tea for you."Hawley scrambled to his feet and followed her. He limped, not because a foot was injured, but he wanted to justify acceptance of the invitation.Where had this girl come from? he wondered. He had been in the Parker home many times for Mr. Parker was county treasurer, but never had he glanced this girl before.She placed him at a table, while she went to prepare the tea. While it was going through the brewing process, the girl returned and seated herself opposite Hawley, having first placed two cups and saucers on the spotted covering."There is nothing like good, strong tea to strengthen a person after such a shock," the girl observed."That's right," Hawley agreed, while he rubbed his head again.Presently the tea was ready and she poured it into the cups. Then they both sipped. If there was one concoction in the world that Hawley despised it was tea, but he managed to consume a cupful."Some more?" she inquired, and he nodded. He would have eaten mud and asked for more under such circumstances."That's a very poor road," the hostess observed, as they sipped tea again."Something ought to be done about it. It's a disgrace to the county. I don't see what the road commissioner can be thinking about. He must be lazy; don't you think so?"Hawley swallowed some tea the wrong way and nearly choked. "Yes, I guess he is," he gulped."I'll have Uncle get after him," the girl promised. "You might have broken some bones. Do you suppose your car is damaged?"He hoped it was, for that would necessitate prolonging his impromptu visit."No you couldn't hurt that old bus," he told her.So she was Parker's niece.
You needn't have your uncle speak to the road commissioner," he said as he prepared to go. It happens that I know the gentleman myself, quite in-timely. In fact, I am the road commissioner."Her brown eyes took on an expression akin to horror."Oh, I'm so sorry!" she exclaimed.
"Forgive me. I didn't mean to hurt your feelings. I didn't know.""It's all right," he assured her.
"And you're right when you say it's a rotten road and something ought to be done. I've been road commissioner five years, but I've never found a chance to repair this stretch. I'll see that it's done somehow, though."As he took his departure he could not help being grateful because of the ruts. Without them he might never have met this bewitching niece of the county treasurer. However, he certainly would have to fix the road, for he just knew he would have to travel over it a great deal, because he was going to have a lot of business dealings with Mr. Parker.Within a week a gang of road workers began operations on the highway in front of the Parker home.
It was necessary for the road commissioner to be there a great deal of the time, and so it happened that he and the treasurer's niece became very friendly. He learned that her name was in Chicago, and on account of her health she had been sent to live in the country.Before long the friendship developed into something else, and one night the road commissioner made a proposal of marriage. They were seated in a swing on the Parker porch.

She took one of his hands.

"Hawley," she said softly, "I do love you, but you must do things before I can marry you. You must make a name for yourself; you must get out of the rut you're in here, go to the city and make good. Then ask me again. But get out of theSCHOOL

WAR—OR NO WAR?

In Washington, D. C., on November 11th, there will be held the Disarmament Conference, to which delegates from various countries will be sent. Below is a pen-sketch of a man whose influence will be felt at this meeting.

Ex-Premier Orlando

Though he himself is no longer a ruling factor in his country, there will be a man at the coming Disarmament Conference whose influence on politics in Italy will be felt.He is ex-premier Orlando, who guided Italy during the trying wartimes. He is a distinguished jurist and is known as a statesman, rather than a politician.Orlando has been described as "the man with the smile." But for all his pleasantness, there are times when his Latin temper gets away from him.
A member of the Peace Conference, which Orlando attended, tells how Orlando's eyes would flash, how he would wave his arms about and talk fast and furiously in Italian. He could neither speak nor understand English, and when he became angry he would have his interpreter aside and talk to the members of the conference in Italian, regardless of the fact that they could not understand a word he was saying.The Italian statesman is noted for his ability to present arguments in a clear and logical manner. He is not a great orator, but what he says is always to the point.In appearance, Orlando is not a typical Italian. Languid describes him as a "short, and round person, with thick white hair worn pompadour, and a bristling white mustache." He does not have the dreamy, southern look of the average Italian. The ex-premier is very much alive, and though he no longer holds his important official position, he is still to be reckoned with.School

Remembering People

BY DR. WILLIAM E. BARTON

EVERYBODY likes to be remembered. You can pay a man no
finer compliment
than to say to him:
"Remember me to him." You are John F. Jones of Milwaukee, and I met you five years ago in Kansas City.
It is a pleasure to meet you again.On the other hand, it is a disappointment to him and a handicap to you if you say to him that most fami-lar of all lies—"Your face is familiar, but I can't recall your name."That is what men are in the habit of saying.Nine times out of ten the only fami-lar thing about the face is that it has a nose and mouth and eyes.There is no mystery about the way in which men learn to remember.All that is necessary is attention and interest.You met John F. Jones of Milwaukee in Kansas City in 1915, and yesterday when you met him in Toledo you remembered him, name and face, and were able to remind him of the circumstances of your previous meeting. And you found that he knew a man in Toledo whom it was advantageous for you to know, and he took you over and introduced you as an old friend. It was worth many dollars toyou to have remembered John F.
Jones.How did you remember him?
When you first met him, you made a definite note of the name. You did not confuse him with any other Jones.
Especially you did not assume that because John D. Rockefeller's middle initial is D, the same must be true of all men with whose name is John. You set him down as John F. Jones.It was just as easy to do that as to leave it indefinite in your mind. And John F. Jones does not like to be remembered as John D. Jones. When you met him, you looked him squarely in the face, and as you were shaking hands with him, you were saying to yourself, "Mr. Jones, John F. Jones of Milwaukee."Once or twice while you were talking with him, you said to yourself, "John F. Jones of Milwaukee." After you had parted, you took a moment to recall to your mind how he looked and you said to yourself, "Jones, John F. Jones of Milwaukee."It is all so simple that it is difficult to make people believe that it requires no special gift or miraculous power.
Some people may have a gift for remembering names and faces, but the most who do it most successfully are those who have learned to employ this simplest of all systems.The man whom you remember says to himself, "He remembers me." He feels proud of the fact, and is kindly disposed toward you. His friendship may be very valuable to you. You can remember him if you really care to do so.Just as your car left it, one day recently.So Hawley resigned his road job and went to the city. He was filled with ambition, strengthened by Mr.
Parker's niece, and he made good in business. He knew farming, and he knew crops, and his operations had to do with deals in wheat, in which ventures are made and lost every night.
He kept up a correspondence with Mr.
Parker's niece, but not once did he visit her. If she came to the city to visit her people she did not inform him of her whereabouts.Two years after his departure Hawley returned to the country. He had a new car now, a big, powerful one, and it skinned along the roads over which he once had supervision.
It skinned over one of these highways to the Parker residence and came to a stop in the shade of a huge oak tree. Hawley got out and knocked on the door. The girl appeared.

They sat in the swing that night.

"Well, did you make good?" she asked him.He was some little time in answering.

"Yes—and no," he replied finally.

"I made a fortune all right, but I came back to you with only a few hundred dollars and that car left."

She did not speak.

"Yes, I made a fortune," he repeated, "I got in with a clique of men who knew how and they helped me.
But last month they played a trick that was not on the square. I took it out too late. It was a case of cut throat with it or lose it. I had, and if I went through with it it meant ruin to a man who was on the square.
So I lost all I had. I'm going to get back my job as road commissioner.
If I can. Of course, you will not want me now."She took one of his hands in both of hers.

"Who was this man you saved?"

Written especially for this newspaper

Aubrey Deane
Captain, University of Iowa Football Team, 1921Editors Note: Mr. Deane has written two articles for you on this subject. The next will describe the proper method of holding the ball for passing, and other points.The purpose of the forward pass is to make the defensive backfield play so far away from its line that it becomes so opened up the offensive team has a chance to gain yards.The fact that a forward pass may come keeps the defensive men from playing too close to their line. They know that there is a chance that when they stay in close the play may not be a smash, but a pass over their heads.I believe the most effective way to execute a forward pass is to catch the ball and start running with it to one side. Just as if the play were to be started toward you, straighten up and pass the ball, provided the man who is to receive the pass has worked his way into the open.

ONE REEL YARNS

BOUNCE GOES THROUGH FIRE Bounce was the mascot of the third ward fire department. He was a coal-black cat with big green eyes. And Bounce loved the fire department. He went out with them on every trip.
When the alarm was given and the firemen slid down the pole from their quarters came down with the last one.
He would hop up to the driver's seat of the first truck.One windy night there came a call to the most crowded part of the district, where rickety buildings stood close together. An old tenement was burning like straw.Most of the people were out, but one child was trapped in the top story. Quickly a long extension ladder was run up, and "Red," the bravest of them all, climbed up.
He had hardly got one leg over the dow sill and was on his hands and knees, when the ladder went crashing down. In vain the firemen tried to get it up again. There was such a high wind they were afraid to have Red and the child jump to the net.Only one child could climb that drain pipe and get a rope up to Red.
Some one suggested, "But no human could do it." It was a tin drain covered with wood. Then they thought of Bounce, who was watching from the driver's seat. A strong, but very light corn was brought and one end was tied around his neck. They started him up the drain pipe. His claws grip into the soft wood.Bounce couldn't exactly understand, but he kept on. Flames reached out and scorched him. He stopped and looked down. Then he heard Red's voice calling him, calling gently. He climbed a little further. The heat was making him dizzy. Red kept encouraging. So Bounce moved on until Red's strong arms lifted him over the sill.Then a heavy rope was fastened to the lower end of the cord and Red pulled it up and fastened it securely.
Red placed Bounce upon his shoulder, then he grabbed up the child and together they started down the rope.
But the heat had been too much for Bounce. He slipped from Red's shoulder and went sliding wildly through the air to the ground far below.That is why Bounce has one stiff leg and limps badly, and why someone in the department always gently pats Bounce on his shoulder as he slides down the pole."Her, Pa, why does it say in this book that Jules Verne was a man ahead of his time?" asked Adolph."Maybe, because he carried his watch in his hip pocket."What few folks we've seen that

BATTLESHIP WISCONSIN TO BE SOLD AS "JUNK"

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Three obsolete battleships, a cruiser and two monitors, will be sold as junk at the Philadelphia navy yard. The vessels are the battleships Maine, Missouri and Wisconsin, the cruiser Columbia and the monitors Ozark and Tonopah. They represent an aggregate tonnage of 53,000. All stores and machinery worth salvaging will be removed before the sale. The battleships and monitors carried main batteries of twelve-inch guns now declared obsolete as effective fighting units, though they all served on active duty during the war as station or training ships. The cruiser Columbia, one of the fastest warships in the Spanish-American war, was used on patrol and convoy duty. The Maine and Missouri were commissioned in 1901. The Maine replaced the old Maine blown up in Havana Harbor in 1898. The Wisconsin went into commission in 1907 with the North Pacific squadron. She was turned out by the Union Iron Works on the Pacific Coast. The monitors Tonopah and Ozark went into commission in 1900.

KANSAS CITY TO GREET AMERICAN LEGION NEXT WEEK

Plans Completed for Greatest Gathering of ex-Service Men in Peace Times

Next Monday morning one of the largest gatherings of ex-service men that has ever been assembled in peace time, will be called to order in Kansas City. The third annual convention of the American Legion, and the 50th division reunion will be held in that city on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Important problems of service men will be thrashed out and recommendations will be made to congress and the various government departments. The American Legion has been gathering valuable information which will be brought to the attention of the public to prove the Legion's claim that the service men have not been getting a square deal in their claims. The Legion is backing up Col. Forbes, the new head of the veterans' bureau, because he is a fearless man and is bringing to light some of the methods in handling the rehabilitation of ex-service men. Kansas City has raised $100,000 for the entertainment of the visitors to the national convention. The Legion posts of Denver, Colorado, are bringing a special show and have reserved a theater in Kansas City. There will be a spectacular aerial derby which will include many special stunts by the country's greatest aviators. A registration system has been worked out, whereby anyone attending the convention will be able to locate any former "buddy" also attending, within thirty minutes after arriving. There are also numberless other features.

Special arrangements have been made with the railroads for a reduced fare. The round trip to Kansas City from La Crosse will be $10.40. If enough members in this vicinity plan on going to the convention a special Pullman car will be arranged for. It is planned to charter the car for four days. The car will be sidetracked right near the convention and will be used to sleep in while at Kansas City. The cost for this service figuring not less than twenty-five men will be $11.50 making a total cost for railroad fare and sleeper $22.00. All reservations for railroad fare, hotel and sleeping accommodations must be made through the American Legion. Therefore all members intending to go to Kansas City should notify William C. Strohl, local post commander, immediately. This is important, as no reservations will be accepted at Kansas City which do not come through the American Legion, until after all such have been taken care of.

If you want to have the time of your life better get ready to attend one of the biggest events since Armistice Day. At least forty bands are going to be at the convention. Every ex-service man's organization of the allied countries has accepted the invitation to send delegates to the Legion convention. President Harding, General Pershing, Marshal Foch and General Diaz of Italy, and many other notables are to be guests of the Legion. Don't forget the days are Oct. 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th and 25th. A special is arranged for it will leave La Crosse early Sunday morning.

Elinor Glyn said at a dinner: "The average Spanish couple have a child a year for twenty years or so. A good many of these children die, but nevertheless the average Spanish family boasts about twelve children."

A Spanish grandee took his family to America last year, and one day as he was leading the way into a department store, a policeman halted him rudely.

"Here, what you been doing?" the policeman said.

"Nothing," said the Spanish grandee.

"Then what are all these children following you for?" the policeman said suspiciously. —Detroit Free Press.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after-effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

GARDEN FLOWERS WERE ONCE WILD

Tuberose Still Grows Wild in Far East—Lily Named From Wreck

Many of the flowers that adorn our gardens have been procured from plants which originally grew wild. They have been changed or improved by the patient art of the professional gardener.

The tuberose was introduced into Europe from the East Indies by a Spanish physician in the sixteenth century. It still grows in its wild state in Java and Ceylon.

The chequered lily came from France and Italy about 1550, while the Crown Imperial lily was first brought from Persia to Constantinople. From there it was taken to the emperor's garden at Vienna, whence it found its way all over Europe.

It is not generally known that the belladonna lily was procured from South America in 1593, while the Guernsey lily was brought from Japan and was first cultivated at the beginning of the seventeenth century in the garden of an Englishman in Paris.

This plant is said to have derived its name as follows: A ship, laden with bulbs, was wrecked off the coast of Guernsey, near England. A number of the bulbs were cast up on the shore and took root in the soil, where they grew rapidly.

The first species of the dahlia known to Europeans was discovered in Mexico and sent to a professor at the Botanic Gardens, Madrid, who named it in honor of the Swedish professor Dahl.

The most popular of flowers, the rose, is to be found in almost every country north of the Equator. It derives its name from "rhosa," meaning red. Of this plant more than one hundred species have been described, and more than two thousand varieties may be procured.

Spreading the Glad Tidings "Would you give a worn-out traveler a bite to eat, mum?" "I will, if you'll do me a favor."

LITTLE ROSA OF ALL GIRL REVUE COVERS WIDE RANGE OF ART

If versatility means cleverness, then Rosa, the singing violinist is undoubtedly one of the cleverest little girls in showdom. Rosa is a member of Boyle Woolfolk's All Girl Revue, and it is for both her versatility and talent that Mr. Woolfolk engaged her in the east that opens today at the Majestic. To take high F above high C is an accomplishment that even the Grand Opera Stars mention with pride. Rosa does this. To play violin classics and verge into a popular rag is something our best musicians can not all do. But Rosa can. Upon all these accomplishments little Rosa adds a whistling specialty, which with a little dancing about comprises the last word in versatility.

"Are you trying to make a fool of me?" he cried. "I never interfere with nature," replied the girl with the painted cheeks and penciled eyebrows.—Life.

DISCREDIT REPORTS THAT MIAMI SUICIDE IS WARREN SPURGIN

Conviction Growing that Identification of Body as that of Banker is a Mistake

MIAMI, Fla., (Associated Press)—Reports that the body of a man who committed suicide in a Miami hotel last Friday and who is believed to be Warren P. Spurgin, missing Chicago bank president, still was unidentified Monday.

W. J. Bennett, Miami business manager, said that the body of a man who committed suicide in a Miami hotel last Friday and who is believed to be Warren P. Spurgin, missing Chicago bank president, still was unidentified Monday.

J. H. Bailey, Caribou, Pa., who said he often had traveled with Spurgin, said he did not know the man who was reported to be Spurgin.

Further strength to the belief that the man is not Spurgin was added through receipt of a telegram from the Chicago authorities describing the missing bank president as a man weighing 250 pounds, six feet three inches in height, and having dark hair, almost with gray. The body was that of a man five feet ten inches in height, weighing 150 pounds, and having red hair streaked with gray.

WAR CLOUD DARKENS AS EMPEROR'S COUP IS PUSHED TOWARD SUCCESS

Forcing Emperor Charles to abdicate, the Czechs are pushing their campaign to prevent further bloodshed, says a Vienna dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. The Czech administration of Hungary, however, continued to resist the advance of Charles' forces and are expected to have captured 120 prisoners.

Orders for the advance of the Czech-Slovak army were expected Sunday, says a dispatch from Prague. The Czech-Slovak government has issued an official statement declaring the "little entente" is resolved to resist the return of Hapsburgs to the Hungarian throne.

Resistance is Small

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The troops of former Emperor Charles are closing in on Budapest without meeting much resistance from the forces opposed to his restoration to the Hungarian throne, according to information which reached the council of ambassadors Monday afternoon.

It is rumored in Vienna that Charles already has entered Budapest, a news agency reports.

Reports that there exists an agreement between Italy and Hungary concerning the restoration of Emperor Charles were denied at the Italian embassy here Monday. It was asserted Italy was not involved in any agreement aimed against the other powers.

Oppose Restoration

At the meeting of the council of ambassadors the influence of the allied powers was definitely thrown against the attempted restoration.

The council instructed allied representatives in Budapest immediately to demand from the Hungarian government these things:

1.—A proclamation of the forfeiture of all rights of ex-King Charles to the throne.

2.—The placing of Charles under arrest and his expulsion from Hungary under conditions which the allied powers will fix.

3.—Fulfilling these things, the allied representatives are instructed to inform the Hungarian government that the allied powers will decline all responsibility and the consequences which might result for Hungary.

Jugo-Slavs Mobilize

BEGRAD.—Jugo-Slav forces are being concentrated on the Hungarian frontier and the cabinet has decided on the mobilization of three classes of recruits.

Horthy Reported in Flight

BELTIN.—Admiral Horthy, the Hungarian regent, fled from Budapest when forces commanded by former Emperor Charles advanced toward the city, says a dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung. It is said he left the government administration in the hands of a provisional directorate composed of monarchists.

Part of Garrison for Charles VIENNA.—By The Associated Press.—It is reported in diplomatic quarters here that a portion of the Budapest garrison has declared for former Emperor Charles. Dispatches from the Hungarian capital Sunday indicated the garrison was loyal to the government headed by Admiral Horthy.

The military strength of the former emperor is reported increasing steadily. Baron Prong, the most influential of the irregular leaders, is said to have decided to throw in his lot with the ex-king.

Charles Refuses to Meet Minister

General Hiedorics, commanding the forces supporting former Emperor Charles, visited Premier Bethlen of Hungary "in the name of the king." He later negotiated with the Hungarian government in the presence of the British commissioner at Budapest and then returned to Budapest about 17 miles away, a Budapest dispatch says.

A minister sent by the government to state to inform Charles the emperor had demanded he leave Hungary, was not received by the former monarch.

CAN'T PAY ALIMONY VERNON FARMER SENT TO JAIL BY HIGBEE

Ira Boyer in Arrests on Payments; Earns $30 a month Alimony Placed at $40

Ira A. Boyer, of Vernon county, earns $30 a month as a farmer laborer. He was ordered to pay $40 a week, $10 a month, alimony last June, to his wife, Mrs. Lydia Boyer.

He hasn't made the payments ordered by the court, so he was arraigned before Judge Higbee to answer charges of contempt of court. Mrs. Boyer lives in La Crosse and has begun action for a divorce, charging desertion and failure to support her.

She declares that her husband would rather work on a farm near La Crosse for $20 a month and his wife than come to La Crosse and work at his trade of carpenter at good wages. Boyer in his answer to his wife's suit denied that he had deserted her or that he had refused to support her and their 10-year-old child. Judge Higbee found Boyer in contempt of court and ordered him sent to jail until he can order a plan whereby he will be able to pay the alimony awarded his wife by the court.

Indie towards Wednesday's conference was called for tomorrow.

Officials of the International and Great Northern declared that passenger service was normal, despite the strike of 600 trainmen Saturday and that freight service was gradually being extended.

In response to Stoen's statement blaming the labor board for the present strained situation, Chairman Barton of the board declared he is "willing to let the public decide who is to blame."

"Yet many say for me as emphatically as you wish," he added, "Whether the railroad labor board is to be blamed for anything or not, those men cannot justify their action on that ground. They cannot thus excuse their throwing the country into such a terrible industrial crisis as a general railroad strike will bring about."

Excellence in Art

Excellence in art is to be attained only by active effort, and not by passive impressions; by the manly overcoming of difficulties, by patient struggle against adverse circumstances, by the thrifty use of moderate opportunities. The great artists were not rocked and dandled into eminence, but they attained to it by that course of labor and discipline which no man need go to Rome or Paris or London to enter upon.

SMITH COULEE SPAN FINISHED; NESHONOC BRIDGE READY SOON

Hingen also Announces Completion of Two Roads and Grading Project

Construction work on the Smith Coulee bridge was completed last week and the Neshonoc bridge, at West Salem, will be finished this week, according to an announcement Monday by County Highway Commissioner Hingen. The filling of the approaches to the Smith Coulee bridge are being done this week.

Two county roads also have been completed, according to Mr. Hingen. A mile and three tenths of blunthous meadow from Barry to St. Joseph bridge has been finished, also the blunthous meadow stretch of two and a half miles from Barry to Langor and Newburg's Corners.

Grading on the West Coulee hill, town of Hamilton, was completed last week. The work covered four miles of road. Two cuts, one 42 feet deep and the other 12 feet deep, have been completed.

FARMERS WHO RAISE THEIR OWN BEEF CAN PEDdle IT

Farmers who raise their own beef or any other product, can peddle or deliver it, either in wholesale or retail quantities without a license, says a notice from the state treasury agent, Ballard. But if the beef or other products are purchased of other parties and delivered, a license will be required. If farmers, who now receive about two cents a pound net after transportation charges have been paid for cart, the can dress and deliver in the cities and villages, it may bring down the price the consumers are compelled to pay at the retail market.

In connection with this, it might be interesting to know how a peddler has been defined by the supreme court. "A peddler is one who sells at retail from place to place, going from house to house, carrying the goods to be offered for sale with him."

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it drenches so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Winners to be Announced Tuesday and Will Have Choice of Week for Theater Parties

Tonight closes the "resemblance contest" at the Rivoli, in which three of La Crosse's beautiful girls will win the privilege of giving theater parties as guests of the management. The prizes will be given to the girls in this city who most closely resemble Helene Chadwick, starring in "Dangerous Curve Ahead," the popular Hughes play which opened yesterday at the Rivoli and closes Tuesday evening. The prizewinners will be announced in the papers and on the Rivoli screen Tuesday evening. The winners will have the privilege of selecting any matinee or evening performance for the rest of the week to give their parties.

All photographs must be turned in to the Rivoli box office by this evening. They will be judged by Mr. A. Brown, well-known local photographer. Girls who have not yet submitted pictures are urged to hurry. The picture of Miss Chadwick displayed in the display case of the theater stands on Main street, and to select a picture of themselves which most clearly shows the resemblance.

Sure Way To Get Rid Of Dandruff
There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dissolves it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be glossy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

You will be delighted with our prompt service.

UNION LEADER ASKS SENATE MEDIATION OF MINE DISPUTE

Plans for Settlement Set Forth at Resumption of Senate Committee Hearing

WASHINGTON.—Mediation by the senate education and labor committee of the twenty-year-old controversy between the coal miners and operators of the West Virginia fields, was proposed by Philip Murray, vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America, at a resumption Monday of the inquiry being conducted by a subcommittee of that committee.

Vice President Murray presented a set of basic principles for settlement of the controversy to which he said the union miners would agree and proposed that a settlement having been accomplished, Chief Justice Taft appoint an administrator to interpret and apply the provision of the agreement.

What Does He Know About It?
Says the bachelor editor of the Washington Times: "How can you expect girls to marry and be satisfied with their husbands? They are seldom satisfied with themselves. There is always something, complexion, weight, height, the color of the eyes or hair, that does not suit them. And it is a case where murder will out, for they just can't keep from telling where they, themselves, think they could be improved. It is a case for that easily fooled man might readily imagine them to be perfect. A wise Providence seems to have provided that they should tell fair, to the extent of warning men of their imperfections."—Houston Post.

Martyr, Lyonaise
The scene was Rome, the year A. D. 68. He came out timidly and looked around. There was no denying that he was very fat and also very scared. He was evidently stage-struck and he waddled about in dismay.

Nevertheless, he made quite a good impression. There was a roar of approval from the floor.—Lafayette

This Offer

means prettier teeth—accept it

This is an offer which millions have accepted. And gleaming teeth seen everywhere show the good effects.

Make this free test. Then judge the benefits by what you see and feel.

To fight film

Dental science, after diligent research, has found ways to fight film on teeth. Careful tests have proved them beyond question. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a scientific tooth paste—Pepsodent. So all may regularly apply them. To countless homes they have brought already a new era in teeth cleaning.

How film ruins

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary dentifrice does not effectively combat it. So, despite the tooth brush, it has caused tremendous damage.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It forms the basis of tartar, a hard food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

It breeds millions of germs and they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Pepsodent combats these film-caused troubles as nothing else has done.

FREE

This Ten-Day test costs you nothing. It will bring you results that will please. Send the coupon for it.

Combats acid

Pepsodent also multiplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause decay.

In these ways it acts as fruit acids do. With every use it multiplies Nature's teeth-protecting forces. Old methods had the opposite effect.

Watch it act

Send for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

A book we send tells the reason for each good effect. Judge what those results will mean to you and yours. Cut out the coupon now.

SCHULTZ HURLS ONE HIT GAME ON SUNDAY TO DEFEAT CHAINS

Nelsons Defeat Team Conceded to be Champions of City of Winona, 3 to 1

CORBETT GETS TRIPLE AS ONLY HIT FOR WINONA TEAM

Ducky Smith Collects Two Doubles off Ackenback

The Nelson Clothing Company baseball team Sunday afternoon became champions of Winona and La Crosse when the Peerless Chains, conceded champs of the Gopher city, were defeated in the post season tilt for the honors of the two cities, 3 to 1.

Schultz easily threw one of the best games of the season allowing the home club but a single safety, a three-base hit by Corbett in the third inning which resulted in a score by Wally after he had reached first on an error. The big hurler had a list of thirteen strikeouts with one pass to first.

Ackenback, the little port-styled hurler of the Winona team, worked in good style for his club allowing but five hits and having eight strikeouts to his credit. Smith got two doubles off Ackenback.

The local club began the circuit of the bases in the second inning when Smith led off with a double. Tanks bunted to Ackenback who threw to third for Smith, but both men were safe on Werra's error. Tanks was not trying to steal second. Prong singled and went to second on a wild throw of Edel, Smith scoring. Anderson was safe on first on an error by Werra and Prong scored.

In the eighth inning the Nelsons collected a single when Schaefer, reaching first on an error, crossed the plate on Smith's double.

Corbett's triple counted one for the Winona outfit in the third inning. Wally was safe on first on Schultz' error. Wally was sacrificed by Ackenback and scored on Corbett's drive. Box score:

	Winona	AB	R	H	PO	A	E

Knew Him
There had been a tie-up on a southern railroad, and the travelers were being hanging around the country station. One of them in desperation started up a conversation with one of the villagers.
"That boy over there," he said, pointing to a white youth, "looks as awkward as a lame mule."
"He is," agreed the resident, "He's a shiftless, no account, lazy rascal, too lazy to walk up hill."
"How do you happen to know so much about him?"
"Who, me? Well, I'd oughter, 'un his father."—American Legion Weekly.

Steel-Head Trout
The steel-head trout is classed as a salmon by fishermen and the fishing trade, and it is said that it was named "steel-head" because of the hardness of its skull. Fishermen tell that it often requires several blows from a club to kill this fish when captured and taken into a boat.—Indianapolis News.

Miniature Writing
Maurice Maunault sent to La Nature (Paris) an ordinary post card on which he had written 23,174 words, with a total of 125,000 letters. It is legible even to the naked eye. The average book has about 200 words to the page, so this postcard represents about seventy-seven pages.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BATTERING TACTICS OF CHICAGO REVELATION TO EASTERN GRID CRITICS

CHICAGO, Ill.—Decisive victory of Chicago over Princeton, 9 to 0, defeat of Michigan by Ohio State, 14 to 0, and the great battle between Harvards Penn State eleven and Harvard, which resulted in a 21 to 21 tie, featured Saturday's football games.

In the intersectional struggle between Maroons and Tigers Coach Stagg displayed an article of football which will be the talk of the east for the remainder of the gridiron season. His shift plays, which were executed with clocklike precision, will be copied in later contests, and they will be used by leading eleven of the section next season.

Shifts Take Tigers Aback
The main purpose of shift plays is to disconcert the defense. The ball is intended to be snapped while defending players are shifting and in no position to meet an attack with all their strength. Stagg had his offense so planned that the backs hit at different points on nearly every play, and the Tiger forwards were at a loss to follow this style of attack.

When the plays were spring behind unbalanced lines, the runner was frequently sent back on the weak side, he generally slid off the center, who was pushed aside by the offending pivot man with the help of the guard on the weak side. The Maroon backs drove with so much power that they had little trouble making ground when the defense was not set for the attacks.

Surprised by Trend of Attack
The battering tactics were a revelation to eastern critics and other close followers of football. Chicago had been expected to play an open game with the forward pass the principal weapon of attack.

In the opening quarters the Maroons made few attempts to gain by use of the open game, and concentrated on the Princeton forwards. Time after time, Thomas and Zorn tore through any part of the Princeton line or slid off the tackles, who were really kept out of the play by the superb blocking of Chicago's ends.

The strength of the Maroon attack may be gathered from the fact that Chicago made sixteen first downs against three for the Tigers. The scoring forward pass was executed perfectly, and caught Princeton completely off guard. A few other attempts to complete forward passes by Chicago also were incomplete, while Princeton did not execute a single one successfully.

East Takes to Big Ten Game
Middle west football, as played by conference institutions—Chicago especially—has gained in popularity favor in the east. Previous to Saturday's game the battle was looked upon as a practice affair, and considered a stepping stone in the development of Princeton for the later games with Yale and Harvard.
It is true that Lourie and Gharney did not start, but even if they had, Chicago would have won. Princeton did not have the defense to stop the attack, and even in the second half, when the players had a chance to talk over the situation with their coaches, the Maroons gained more ground.
It was a crowning victory for Chicago and the west, and showed beyond question of debate that Stagg still is a strategist, and can develop wonderful football eleven if given material.

Center King Hurls Ankle
Chicago, however, came out of the contest more bruised than the men showed in the dressing quarters after the game. King, the center, who played a consistent game, is on crutches with a nerve disturbance in his left ankle, but Trainer Johnson expects to have him in shape for the game with Colorado on Saturday. Dawson, however, will be grounded for the position during the week.
Milton Romney, the quarterback, who scored the nine points for Chicago, has a badly bruised right forearm. Early in the game Romney was kicked on the arm and he had trouble using it for the remainder of the game. Other players carry cuts and bruises of the terrible battle, which was savage from start to finish.
The team left New York Sunday at 2 o'clock on the Broadway Limited for the Pennsylvania. It will arrive at the Englewood station at 10:30, Chicago time, Monday morning.

Michigan Out of Race
Michigan was eliminated from conference championship consideration because of its 14 to 0 defeat by Ohio State, last year's champion. The Buckeyes were too powerful for the Wolverines, who gave every indication of being championship contenders this year. Ohio will be pointed for the Chicago game, which will be played on Stage field November 7. Indications are it will be the best home game of the year hereabouts, although Wisconsin will play its customary interesting contest with the Maroons on Stage field November 12.

Style in Writing
In style, as in other things, it is well always to aim at the combination of as many excellences as possible—opposite excellences if you may—those other beauties of prose, a busy age will hardly educate its writers in correctness, let its writers take time to write English more as a learned language, and completing that correction of style which has only gone a certain way in the last century, raise the general level of language towards their own.—Pater.

Cleaned While He Waited
A little fellow sat on a doorstep crying bitterly. Presently a sympathetic old lady came along.
"What's the matter, little boy?" she asked.
"I got my new pants covered with dirt," sobbed the boy.
"But they're clean now, dear," continued the woman.
"I know they are," wailed the lad. "Then why do you still cry, child?"
"Cos mother wouldn't let me take 'em off while she beat the dust out."—Houston Post.

LINEUP PLEASES ZUPPKE DESPITE ILLINOIS DEFEAT

URBANA, Ill.—Satisfied that the Illinois have improved greatly despite the poor passing and fumbling which marred their game Saturday, Coach Bob Zupke will make few, if any, changes Monday when he starts to prepare for the invasion by Michigan.

One change which is likely to be made is the job of passing the ball from center. Vogel and Al Moor alternated at center yesterday. While Moor punted well and played his position all right, his passing was miserable. The blame was attached to Vogel erroneously in yesterday's reports.

The Illinois are standing by Zupke joyfully and have confidence that he will work out something as soon as his green hands have the opportunity to learn by experience. Michigan is expected to be a hard nut and Illinois will have to fight up hill, it is conceded.

BABE DONE WITH OUTLAW GAMES; GOES HUNTING
NEW YORK.—The baseball activities of George Herman Ruth ceased Saturday, in consequence with Babe's promise made on the previous evening to Col. L. Huston in Scranton, Pa. However, the four base flinger did not trek immediately in the direction of Chicago to face Judge Landis, supreme administrator of baseball. The Babe grasped the extended hand of Bob Shawkey and fled into the wilds with the red leaved pitcher for a few days of hunting.

In the course of time Babe hopes to work his nerve up to the point of going to Chicago and telling the commissioner that he is sorry for his act and is prepared to take his punishment.

U. OF C. TOSSES BOOKS ASIDE TO WELCOME TEAM
CHICAGO, Ill.—Classrooms at the University of Chicago will be long-some affairs Monday morning. The students, declaring a holiday to celebrate the 9-0 victory of the Maroons over Princeton Saturday, intend to meet the competing heroes when they roll into Chicago at 10:30 o'clock, at the Englewood station, and escort them back to the Midway in triumph.

A formal mass meeting is anticipated, following the arrival of the team, authorized by the faculty. Saturday night there were many independent celebrations on the campus, and fraternity members paraded the streets.

Timely Warning
One day early last spring the manager of a baseball team lined up his men and said: "All you fellows who have been in vaudeville during the winter, step forward."
Almost half the team advanced from the line.
"Now, boys," he said to them, "I want you to bear in mind one thing: You are on the diamond, not on the stage now, so when you make a hit and the audience applauds it, don't stop to howl on your way to first base."—Boston Transcript.

Just a Little
"I want a shave," said the determined looking man, as he climbed into the barbers' chair. "I don't want a hair-cut, nor a shampoo. Neither do I want any bay rum, witch hazel, hair tonic, hot towels or face massage. I don't want the manicure lady to hold my hand, nor the bootblack to fondle my feet. I just want a plain shave with no trimmings. Do you understand that?"
"Yes sir," said the barber. "Will you have some lather on your face sir?"—New York Sun.

ROD & REEL DIXIE CARROLL

THE STYLE OF ROD
When it comes to the number of joints in a rod the first choice is naturally the one-piece rod with no ferrules. For the fellow who makes a long jump off this type immediately goes into the discard.

But if you are not one of those normals who finds more pleasure in exploring new streams than in going back to the old lake or stream several seasons, and have a permanent camp, you will find the one-piece rod a fine tool to keep at your permanent camp.

You can't take a one-piece rod with a long rod case a couple inches longer than the rod itself, so you'd better decide on the two-piece construction, which consists of a short butt and one tip with only one ferrule. Although the three-piece rod fits into a smaller case and is carried more conveniently, the extra ferrule that is added to gain this advantage in size when disjoined lessens the strength of the rod and should be sacrificed for the two-piece construction. There is nothing that does as much to make a fishing trip appear like a funeral as to have one's not bamboo rod break at the ferrule when a pesky game fish is shooting through the underwater passages with your hook in his jaws.

Three joints in a bait casting rod usually brings the second ferrule right at the center of the arch where the most strain comes, and besides making casting harder because it takes away the whip and resiliency of the natural wood, it prevents the natural curving of the rod when you clamp down the pressure on the reel and trust in your rod when Mr. Bass strikes for the weeds or snags. In the two-piece rod the ferrule is close to the handle and does not interfere with the natural bending of the wood, and there is consequently less chance of the rod snapping in two.

GAME ENDS IN ROW
RACINE, Wis.—Because of a disagreement between the referee and the umpire, Sunday's game between the Legion teams of Racine and Waukegan broke up in a row with the score tied at 7 to 7.

MAN SOUGHT BY STATE LOCATED IN CHICAGO
MADISON, Wis.—The attorney general was informed Monday that Frank Boyce, wanted for alleged violations of the state securities law, had been arrested in Chicago. W. J. Hake of the railroad commission has gone to Chicago to explain facts on which request will be made that Boyce be held for extradition.
During the legislature Boyce prepared elaborate and expensive prepared attacks on the railroad commission and especially the securities division. When hearing was held to consider his charges, he could not be found.
Wisconsin officials have been trying to locate the man several months.
